Experience the law in action with UNSW Law’s experiential learning courses

Are you looking to

– Apply your legal skills?
– Work on real-life projects?
– Stand out amongst fellow law graduates?
– Effect real change?

If you have completed 78UOC of your LLB degree, or 72UOC of your JD degree, then UNSW Law Experiential Learning is for you!

UNSW Law has the largest number of experiential learning opportunities of any Australian Law School. These opportunities give all UNSW Law students the chance to experience the law in action during their studies.

Clinics

Clinics offer the chance to learn deeply about an area of legal practice. You will be supervised intensively and will have the chance to reflect on the law and the legal system under the guidance of experienced clinical practitioners.

Clinics include

• Kingsford Legal Centre Clinics- Employment Law, Community Law, and Family and Domestic Violence Community Education
• Housing Clinic (Redfern Legal Centre)
• Land and Environment Court Clinic
• Human Rights Clinic
• Police Powers Clinic
• Social Impact Hub Clinic

To learn more visit law.unsw.edu.au/clinics

Internships

Internships give you the chance to learn about lawyering in different organisations or gain valuable experience as the student editor of a law publication or journal. You can intern with UNSW partner organisations or organise your own internship placement.

To learn more visit law.unsw.edu.au/internships

What’s involved?

Interns and Clinic students attend their placement for 1 or 2 days per week over Semester (courses are 6UOC or 12UOC) or for 12 days intensive in the Summer or Winter Semester break.

There are a range of scholarships and awards available for UNSW Law students undertaking self organised internships including ACEN Scholarships and Overseas Short Term Study Scholarships.

Read more about the opportunities on offer at law.unsw.edu.au/lawinaction

“I have always been passionate about human rights, and the Human Rights Clinic was a space where I could really engage in how the law works to protect, promote and fulfil human rights through working with our NGO partners.”

Margaret Yie-Quach 6th year International Studies / Law student

Apply now at law.unsw.edu.au/lawinactionapply